

AREA PROFILE: HEBRON, CONNECTICUT

Hebron is a dynamic mid-sized town nestled east of the Connecticut river with a vibrant Main Street business district. The town is surrounded by the natural splendor of open space and offers an established business community and a variety of recreational facilities, historic assets, and contemporary attractions.

The town is home to thousands of acres of both Hebron and State-of-Connecticut owned open space, parks, athletic fields, and hiking trails. The town's Parks and Recreation department manages these town facilities with state-of-the-art equipment and well-trained staff and offers a robust array of recreational programs. In addition to a growing network of trails, residents and visitors have access to Gay City State Park and the Air Line Trail State Park, both of which attract walkers, hikers, horseback riders, and cyclists from across the region for the views, the relaxation, and tranquility. Recreational facilities include 6 well-maintained parks, 10 miles of trails, and 20 multi-purpose fields, as well as numerous other parks, picnicking, and recreational facilities with space for fishing.

Regional School District #8 manages RHAM High School and RHAM Middle School on a single 70-acre campus located in Hebron Center and serves the towns of Hebron, Andover, and Marlborough.

The value of community resonates in Hebron. The long-term vision of the town is to respect their 300-year old history while proactively planning for future growth. Ranked as the #2 Best Places to Live in Tolland County by Niche.com.
